M: Good afternoon, everybody. This is Student President Sam Wilson. As you know, the lunch basketball league will begin soon. Many students are interested in joining the league and waiting for the sign-up sheet to be handed out at the gym. For easier access, we've decided to change the registration method. Instead of going to the gym to register, simply log into the school website and fill out the registration form online. Thank you for listening and let's have a good league.

W: Daniel, what are you doing in front of the mirror?

M: Why not?

W: When you pop them with your hands, you're touching your face.

M: Are you saying that I shouldn't touch my face?

W: Exactly. You know our hands are covered with bacteria, right?

M: So?

W: You'll be spreading bacteria all over your face with your hands. It could worsen your skin problems.

W: Thank you. I'm so glad to hear that.

M: And, I also think your campaign about plastic pollution has been very successful.

W: As an environmental activist, that means a lot to me.

M: May I make a suggestion? I thought it'd be nice if more children could hear your ideas.

W: That's what I was thinking. Do you have any good ideas?

M: Actually, I'm a cartoonist. Perhaps I can make comic books based on your work.

W: Yeah. I like it, too.

16번부터 17번까지는 두 번 들려줍니다.

[16 ~ 17] 다음을 듣고, 물음에 답하시오.

W: Hello, everybody. Welcome to the health workshop. I'm Alanna Reyes, the head trainer from Eastwood Fitness Center. As you know, joints are body parts that link bones together. And doing certain physical activities puts stress on the joints. But the good news is that people with bad joints can still do certain exercises. They have relatively low impact on the joints. Here are some examples. The first is swimming. While swimming, the water supports your body weight. The second is cycling. You put almost no stress on the knee joints when you pedal smoothly. Horseback riding is another exercise that puts very little stress on your knees. Lastly, walking is great because it's low-impact, unlike running. If you have bad joints, don't give up exercising. Instead, stay active and stay healthy!
